WHY I MADE THIS EDIT

How Football Changed My Life

ABOUT THE VIDEO

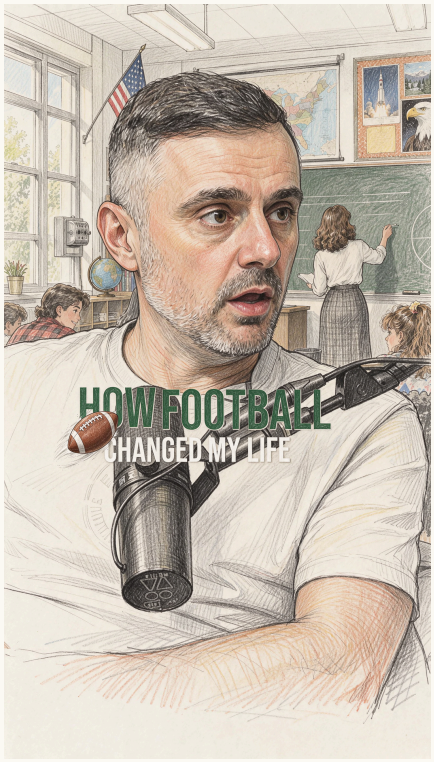

In this clip from a longer podcast, the speaker says school felt difficult and football made it better. I edit his account with classroom and school cutaways, then carry the Jets connection through the green line and captions.

INSPIRATION

I wanted the classroom, title, and football to establish the speaker’s hook, then carry his memory through school and football before the final contrast.

CREATIVE CHOICES

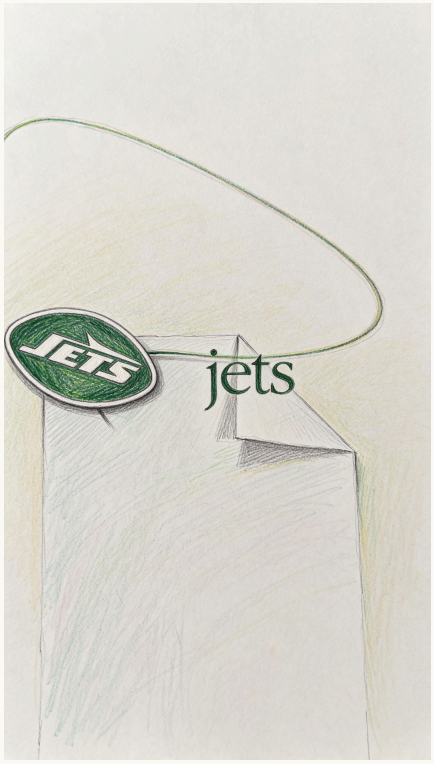

I combine the talking head with illustrated cutaways. A green textured line and green type carry the Jets’ green-and-white identity, while the cutaways give the speaker a visual break.

00:02

A man in a white top appears in front of an illustrated classroom scene. A black microphone crosses the foreground; a football graphic and large green-and-white hook text sit over the lower part of the image.

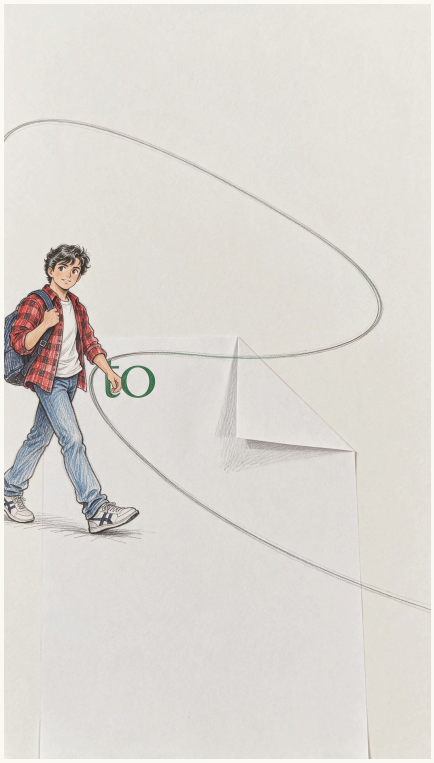

I use the classroom, title, and football to establish the hook: school was hard for the speaker, and football was what made it better.

00:03

A green Jets oval logo sits at lower left beside green text reading “jets.” A thin green textured line loops across a light, paper-like background.

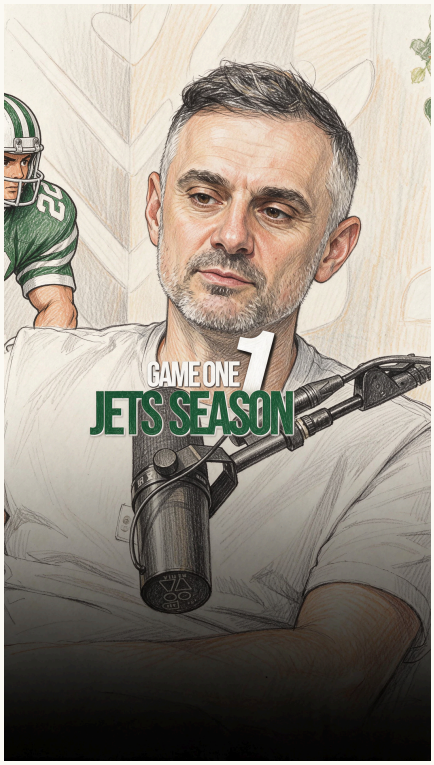

I transition to the Jets logo with a green textured line and green text, carrying the team’s green-and-white identity through the graphic.

An illustrated person in a red plaid shirt, blue jeans, sneakers, and a backpack walks at the left side of a light, paper-like background. A thin green line loops across the frame, with partial green lettering behind the figure.

I use the walking figure to represent going to school.

00:09

A man in a white top appears with a black microphone in the foreground. Part of an illustrated football player in a green uniform is visible at the left edge. A large white “1” appears with the words “GAME ONE” and “JETS SEASON.”

I bring in a historical Jets player in connection with a touchdown, followed by the subhook “Game One of Jets Season.”

00:13

Green text reading “made this thing” sits across a light, paper-like background. A thin green line loops around the frame, with pale layered paper shapes behind the text.

I use the cutaways to give the speaker a break.

00:18

A man in a white top sits behind a large black microphone. White text reading “summer family time” appears across the middle, with a warm-toned background behind him.

I time the final caption over the speaker’s close-up as he says that even summer with family was not the thing, leaving his contrast to land.
